The annual Strategic Planning Session was held at the Utah Local Governments Trust building located at 55 South Highway 89, North Salt Lake, UT 84025, on Friday, February 25, 2022 beginning at 8 am.

The City Administrator shared a presentation on the demographics of Woods Cross City, how property tax is configured, the history of property tax collection in Woods Cross, and how the current tax rate for Woods Cross compares with the other 14 cities in Davis County.

The City Administrator and Assistant City Administrator reported on the findings and factors involved with a recent wage study conducted by Mike Swallow of Personnel Systems & Services.

Staff members were invited to provide details of what is happening in their areas of service, including successes, challenges, future goals, and projected needs for the future.

Those presenting and areas covered are as follows:

- Sam Christiansen for Public Works
- Chad Soffe for the Police Department
- Tim Stephens for Community Development
- Jessica Sims for Administration
- LaCee Bartholomew for Community Programs and Events

Following the presentations, attendees were invited to share what they felt were key priorities for Woods Cross City going forward.

Ryan Westergard, Mayor
